

Intellectual Property & Information Governance

LL.M.

LL.M. in Intellectual Property & Information Governance

With the growth of human creativity and inventiveness, intellectual property law is emerging as one of the most dynamic fields of legal practice. In this program, UConn School of Law is preparing its graduates for future work in this highly competitive field. The program encourages students to balance competing private and public demands for innovation in arts, markets, and new technologies.

- Intellectual Property introductory course addressing trade secret, trademark, right of publicity, copyright, and patent;
- Regime courses of copyright, trademark and patent law;
- Intellectual Property and Entrepreneurship Clinic to ensure experiential approach.

The diverse curriculum encourages students to design a course of study tailored to their future academic and professional plans preparing graduates for the global business environment and policy positions.

UConn School of Law is in the residential West End of Hartford, Connecticut, on a collegiate-Gothic campus that is listed on the U.S. National Register of Historic Places. Cultural and recreational opportunities abound in the area, which is just two hours from New York and Boston.
